Online Conduct and Codes of Conduct

Individuals involved in the sport in a number of roles are required to conduct themselves in accordance with the relevant codes of conducts. Roles which have a specific code of conduct include:

- Athletes
- Coaches
- Team managers
- Parents
- Officials

The behaviours covered in these codes of conducts include online behaviour, such as when using social media.

These codes of conduct can be viewed at: www.britishathletics.org.uk/governance/welfare-and-safeguarding/guidance-documents-and-policy

Social Media

Personal Conduct

Stone Master Marathoners respects all our member's right to a private life. However, the Club must also ensure that confidentiality and its reputation are protected at all times. If committee members, coaches, officials or others holding a formal position or position of authority within the club do discuss club related activity on social media (for example, giving opinions on their specialism), they should include on their profile in their comments a statement along the following lines: "The views I express here are my own and do not necessarily reflect the views of Stone Master Marathoners."

Those who hold positions of responsibility in the club for example committee members or run leaders, should not make comment on controversial issues with which they have a connection in their role at the club as it may be taken as a statement indicating the position of Stone Master Marathoners.

Any communications that club members make in a personal capacity through social media must not:

- bring the club into disrepute, for example, by:
  - making defamatory comments about individuals or other organisations or groups, whether directly or which could be reasonably inferred as relating to an individual or organisation;
  - posting images that are inappropriate or links to inappropriate content;
  - being seen to support (for example by 'liking' on Facebook or retweeting on Twitter) a comment or post that would fall into any of the above categories (note: a comment may be retweeted purely to make people aware of it but this may be misconstrued as showing support for the statement retweeted).
- breach confidentiality, for example by:
  - giving away information about an individual (such as a fellow volunteer or athlete) or organisation
  - revealing information held by the club where there would be reasonable expectation of confidentiality;
- breach copyright, for example by:
  - using someone else's images or written content without permission; or failing to give acknowledgement where permission has been given to reproduce something;
- do anything that could be considered discriminatory against, or bullying or harassment of, any individual, for example by:
  - making offensive or derogatory comments relating to sex, gender reassignment, race (including nationality), disability, sexual orientation, religion or belief or age;
  - using social media to bully another individual; or
  - posting images that are discriminatory or offensive.

No comment should ever be made about an individual or subject that:

- exposes someone to hatred, ridicule or contempt
- causes them to be shunned or avoided
- lowers them in the estimation of 'right thinking' members of society
- disparages them in their office, profession or trade.

Social media can be used in a positive way, for example, to make people aware of events, activities or work that you are involved in within the sport and to make positive statements about the successes and activities of athletes, coaches, clubs, volunteers and officials. You may be able to use Social Media to raise awareness of work done by organisations you are involved in or to answer queries people make have about the availability of support, information or services.

Stone Master Marathoners recognises that Social Media can be a useful tool for staff, coaches, athletes and officials to share information.

The primary source of such communication are the Club's Social Media Accounts at <https://www.facebook.com/stonemastermarathoners/>

Club members who wish to achieve contact through new, more specific pages or channels should contact Emma Dutton via emmadutton81@icloud.com in the first instance to discuss the options available.

Contact with Under 18s

We recommend against adults using personal (as opposed to public) messaging functionality available on Social Media channels to communicate with under 18s.

We would recommend adults also consider carefully any communication made on public functionality, such as Facebook Pages, where this is likely to be seen by Under 18s and that adults should act in an appropriate way on these Social Media resources too.

Information on club activities including details associated with competitions, training and social events will be communicated on the recognised club online presence including our website at www.stonemm.co.uk and Social Media at <https://www.facebook.com/stonemastermarathoners/>

Security and Identify Theft

People should be aware that social networking websites are a public forum, particularly if you are part of a "network". You should not assume that your entries on any website will remain private. Most online communities have their own rules and guidelines, which you should always follow.
